

Ned Workshop x KIDS MARKET

FAQs

Hello there! Thank you for your interest in the Ned Workshop's KIDS MARKET, hosted by Nederland Farmers Market. We've compiled a list of questions we would have if we were either 1. a kid interested in selling at the market or 2. a parent supporting a kid interested in selling at the market. If you have questions not addressed on this site, please reach out to us at info@nedworkshop.org.

This is our first try at a Kids Market! We're starting small and hope to have a giant ,great time and learn a heap ton so that in the future, this can be a positive and wholesome experience for our sweet town. With that said, space and ages will be limited for this first rodeo and we hope to expand our offerings in the future. Thanks for your feedback and participation!

General

What is the Ned Workshop / who is putting on this event?

The Ned Workshop is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization in Nederland. We're focused on making learning new skills fun! We teach sewing, crochet, knitting, embroidery, painting, woodworking, 3D printing and more. We want to waste less and create more, so the vast majority of our materials are sourced second hand or from local, Colorado vendors. We're a husband and wife team with a board made up of caring and kind individuals wanting to keep Ned whacky and creative. Check out our website for more information.

The Ned Workshop is partnering with Nederland Farmers Market to put on our first Kids Market. The Kids Market will take place on September 6th during a Mini Market. Mini Markets take place in between full Farmers Market. We're grateful for the support of Nederland Farmers Market!

Market address: 80 E 2nd St & 85 E 1st St, Nederland, CO 80466 \(between 1st and 2nd street on the East side of town\)

What ages can participate in the Kids Market?

8 - 15 years old.

We hope to expand this range in the future but are limited on time and experience this go-'round. Each accepted kiddo vendor can have one buddy / assistant join them at the market. So if you want to bring an older sibling or a friend along for support, that's great! We appreciate younger kiddos enjoying the event from the customer side of the table with an adult.

How many vendors can participate?

5 vendors will be accepted for this market.

If you're interested, please apply! While space will be limited, we hope to get a sense for who might be interested in this type of event in the future and what type of goods / services kids would like to sell.

What can I make / sell?

We don't want to limit your creativity but here are a few suggestions:

- Hand crafted items - keychains, scrunchies, pot holders, jewelry, upcycled clothing, crochet, stickers, magnets, birdfeeders, dog bandanas, candles, beaded hair clips
- Art - paintings, photography, drawings, pottery, woodwork, embroidery, painted rocks
- Activities - friendship bracelet kits, holiday ornament kit, slime (be sure to label appropriately advising play with adult supervision)
- Nature items - flowers, potted plants, flower crowns, fishing flies

What can I NOT sell?

This list isn't exhaustive. We'll be sure to approve your products at least two weeks before market day. If you have any questions or concerns, let us know. The Ned Workshop has final say on what's sold at the market.

- Baked goods, food, drink.
 - Unfortunately, Colorado has steep requirements pertaining to their Colorado's Cottage Food Act including an in-depth training course and specific packaging requirements that are just too complex for us to prepare for at this market. Apologies for taking this category off the table - perhaps in the future it's something we can add!
- Copyrighted characters.
 - Pokemon and Disney characters (and similar) are so cute and fun! Unfortunately, we don't have the licensing required to use these beloved characters so stay away from them, please.
- Anything applied to the body.
- Age-restricted substances.
- Weapons or pyrotechnics.
- Live animals.
- Political and campaign merchandise and religious proselytizing material.
- Profanity, adult themes, violent imagery.
- Straight resale of purchased retail goods. Thrift flips are ok! We just want items to be made, meaningfully altered or grown by our vendors.
- Anything requiring flame, heat, or electricity at the booth.

How many items should I make for market day?

3-10 items is great!

Don't stress about the quantity of items. Enjoy the process of selecting what you'd like to sell and either sourcing it or making it.

How much should my item(s) cost?

This is the tricky bit! You want your price point to be approachable for customers but you also should be reasonably compensated for your time and talent. Here are a few things to take into consideration as you price your item:

- How many hours did it take to create your items?
- How much did you spend on material or supplies?
- A good rule of thumb is to calculate your materials cost $\times$ 2. Then, add about \$5 per hour of your time, and round to a friendly whole number — \$1, \$3, \$5, \$10. Whole dollars make change easy and the tax math clean.

Where does the money go?

100% of proceeds that kiddos make, the kiddos get to keep.

I'm a parent, how should I be involved?

Yay parents! Thank you for supporting your young entrepreneur! We know a lot goes on behind the scenes as your young person prepares for the market. Day-of, we ask that a guardian (or a grown-up you've named on your application) stays at the market the whole time - but hands off. Observe from a distance, support other vendors, grab a coffee at Ned General. You need to be present for check-in and check-out, and reachable by text the entire time.

Volunteers will be available to your kid throughout the market. We hope that your kid will feel empowered by this opportunity to independently sell their products.

Is it legal for kids to sell stuff at the market?

Yes! In 2019, Colorado passed the Lemonade Stand Law, which says towns and counties can't require a kid to get a business license or permit to run a small, occasional business. A few state-level rules still apply depending on what you sell, which is why we have a list of what's allowed at the market - and The Ned Workshop takes care of the sales tax side for everyone.

The Ned Workshop and The Nederland Farmers Market are both insured and have business licenses to be operating in Colorado.

How do I apply?

Fill out this form! Please do so by Wednesday, August 19, 2026. All applicants will hear back from us by Saturday, August 22. This event is free to apply for and free to attend!

If you are selected as a vendor and need to cancel, please let us know right away. Email us at info@nedworkshop.org.

Day Of:

What time should I arrive?

Plan to arrive no later than 9:30am so that you have time to set up and get organized. Volunteers will be available to help with set up and tear down. We'll also have a wagon available to help tote products to and from your car if needed, just let a volunteer know!

Where do I park?

We'll need adults to find parking in / around town. There are great options near the following:

- Teens Inc.
- The Visitor's Center
- RTD Lot

What is provided:

- Three 10x10' tents
- Two 6' folding tables per tent
 - There will be up to two vendors per tent
- Tent weights
- Signage

What do I bring:

1. Your products to sell!
2. Any marketing material for your business (not required but if you want to offer additional products / services outside of the market, feel free to do so)
3. Any product presentation items you'd like - jewelry stands, to-go bags, etc.
4. Sunscreen, water bottles, a hat, comfy clothes. Market days can be long so bring any items that will make you comfortable and feel energized.
5. A chair. We'll bring as many as we have, but if you have an extra folding chair, please bring it.

How do I accept money?

Cash is king at a Farmers Market. We'll have an envelope for you to keep any cash you make. If possible, plan to bring $20 worth of $1 bills and $5 bills to make change. The Ned Workshop will also have small bills on hand to help make change if needed.

Please keep track of how much you make at the market. 100% of the money you make is yours to keep! The Ned Workshop needs to know for tax reporting / future planning purposes. We will provide you with a notecard to report your final earnings of the day.

A note about sales tax - You don't need to think about sales tax at all! Price your items in whole dollars - the tax is already included in that price. The Ned Workshop holds the event sales tax license, works out the tax from your total after the market, and files it with the state for everyone. Nothing extra gets added at your table, and you take home the full price on your sign.

I'm nervous - will my products sell?

We've felt this very same way! All market vendors get nervous and excited before each market. You are amazing and creative and talented and we are so excited to see what you create for the market. You know, we live in a really special place where everyone is encouraging and kind. I think you'll see that if you put yourself out there and show the town what you're selling, people will be excited about it!

You won't be alone! You'll have lots of kind volunteers there to support you and help whenever you need it. You can do hard things!

What do I need to do before I leave for the day?

Please check out with one of our volunteers before leaving for the day. We'll report how much you made during the market, check you out to your guardian, and give you a giant high five for an awesome market!

Will there be photos?

We'd love to photograph the market for our website and social media. There's a photo permission box on the application - yes or no, both completely fine. If you'd rather your kiddo not be photographed, we'll give them a different colored wristband so our volunteers know. We'll also ask visitors to check with a vendor before taking their picture.

What happens in case of emergency / inclement weather?

- Text message thread: Guardians will be placed on a group text message: Group 1 for first wave of vendors and Group 2 for the second wave of vendors.
 - This channel will be updated with reminders, updates, and in case of inclement weather update / emergency. If we need you back at the booth, you will be notified - please keep your phone with you at all times while the market is ongoing.
- Should heavy rain, hail, or lightning be within the vicinity of the market, we will account for each kid vendor and lead them to Ned General to take cover. Parents will be notified by text immediately. If this occurs, please meet us at Ned General as soon as possible.
- If your child has any health or allergy information we should be aware of, please be sure to include this on your application. This information will not hinder your child from participating, but we will be sure to follow up with you so we know exactly how to keep your kiddo safe.
- Wrist bands – upon check-in, your kiddo will be given a wrist band where you'll write your phone number. This will be a secondary defense to keep us organized and efficient if needed.
- What if my kid has a bit of a melt down and wants to be done - that is OK. This is a fun, encouraging event meant to empower kids. If your kid is not having fun and does not feel encouraged, we will notify you. You know your kid best and can either step in to assist them or allow them to bow-out of the event with pride and support.
